Now nearly ev body knows, sometimes from tentions won't do it, religious de votion won't do it-though both of these are just as necessary for the effective Sunday school superntendent as for the pastor. Even o this work," is not enough; for experience has often shown how nistaken such a feeling can be.

How Can You Tell? any one else has the qualities needed for leadership? One of the best ways is the simplest: try it out. Paul speaks, for instance, of the religious leader being "apt t teach." The best way to see whether some one will make a good teacher is to let him try it a while. Some church executives make the mistake of not letting young peo ple try their wings because they are "too young." If you will look around the average church you will see some good old saint who has been, let us say, the teacher of a certain class for thirty or forty years. Everybody says, "We don't need young sprouts, we need eachers of long experience like old Mrs. Whatzis." Yes, but when did Mrs. Whatzis get her start? The records will very likely show that she started out teaching when she was little Sadie Whozis, aged about sixteen, and it is safe to say that the greybeards in the church fifty years ago shook their heads and said little Sadie was much too young to teach!

The Habit Of Command Paul insists on strongly. It is that the church leader must have a strong personal character. He must have a good reputation, o course, but character is far deeper. Among other personal points of trength Paul singles out the ability to control himself and others. He must be able to get things done. He must be able to persuade people to do right things A leader without force of character just can't lead-it's a contradiction in terms. And Paul suggests two practical tests for thi quality. One is: Can the man con trol himself? A person who falls easily into temptation, who i wishy-washy, who has a vile temper, who lets emotions run away with him, will never make a good leader. The other test, for a grown man, is: How does he manage his family? If he manages that badly

The Bible And Leadership Another matter often overlooke but not overlooked by Paul, is this: The Christian leader must know his Bible, love it and be guided by it. When a church is electing officers, how often this is forgotten! A man will be elected to the official board because he is a prominent citizen or because it is hoped that he will be generous in his gifts, or because he is genial and friendly; but is the question asked: Can we elect as leader of

"Yeah, Billie don't know how to play ball," Joey said. Billie drew up his face and walked up to Joey. "Yea, well I Joey looked down at little Billie. "That slow roller was a hit?" "Sure it was," put in Tommy, Remember, you muffed it." Joey looked across the street and the back of his neck turned red. 'We can play in old man Shaffer's lot, we won't have so far to go then," said Hughie. 'Swell, let's hurry," Tommy "Do you know how to get there?" "No," admitted Billie. "Well then stick with us or you'll never get there." "You guys better take me, Mon said she'd fan me if I didn't-

"It's my bat," said Joey holding the bat next to him. Ok, Joey 'll be first-" said "Ok, then Art, Hughie, then Billie, and me. Let's run, times a-wastin," said Tommy. The six boys ran as fast as they could till at last they reached old man Shaffer's lot. Joey stepped to the make be-eve plate and promptly struck out. Then one after another the boys stepped up to the plate.

Tommy felt disgusted, their hearts just weren't in it. He knew that it was no use. It would be best to go and get it over with. Tommy stepped to the plate and took a sharp cut at the ball and missed. He fell to the ground. "Great, now I got my new pants dirty-, Mom'll be mad," he said, brushing them off. "Well, what do you think?" said "Me," said Art, "I don't care, that's if you fellows don't."

"Well, I don't want to," said "We have to though," said Tom-"Hey," broke in an old voice. The boys looked across the street at an old man who was setting on his front porch. "You fellows better get a move on ya-It's getting late." Tommy smacked his fist into his hand. "Yeah, come on you guys," he said, taking hold of little
